Seventy2 Capital Wealth Management's Hunt Valley Office Continues to Grow with Addition of Veteran Team

BETHESDA, MD — Nov 10, 2021: Seventy2 Capital Wealth Management, a fast growing, independent wealth management practice in the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area, announced today that Jeffrey Munson has joined the Hunt Valley team as executive vice president, Financial Advisor and PIM Portfolio Manager*. Betty Gunter has also joined as a senior registered client service associate. Together, they have made the move from RBC Capital Markets where they spent over a decade working together.

Jeff and Betty join Seventy2 Capital Wealth Management with each having over 20 years of experience in the industry under their belts. Having previously worked at firms such as Citi Group, Legg Mason Wood Walker and UBS, they have developed extensive knowledge and acumen on how to serve the financial needs of clients. Jeff has led his portfolio management strategy and client engagement with the message to “save and stay the course” always top of mind. Betty is focused on always providing exceptional client experiences in her daily operations.

On joining Seventy2 Capital, Jeff noted, “The independence of this new platform will amplify the dexterity with which I focus on each individual client’s needs in managing their portfolios. I am confident that this move brings us into an innovative team with its pulse on the markets when it comes to building wealth for our clients.”

Seventy2 Capital Partner, Troy Elser commented, “We are thrilled to have someone of Jeff’s caliber join the Seventy2 Capital team and the Hunt Valley office. Given Jeff’s experience, we look forward to his continued focus on excellence coupled with longevity in this new collaboration.”

Jeff received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Lynchburg University. His hometown is Ellicott City and, although a Maryland native, his favorite place on earth is the Outer Banks. Betty is originally from Baltimore and a dog lover who enjoys reading and traveling.
