Kyle is an Investment Associate who joined Seventy2 Capital in 2021 after completing the firm's internship program while in college. In his current role, Kyle serves as a critical resource for the firm's custom and discretionary investment strategies. He works hard to utilize his in-depth research and analytic skills to give the company's advisors the tools and support they need to service clients at the highest level possible.

Kyle earned a Bachelor's degree in Mathematical Economics with a concentration in Statistics from Bucknell University, while also being a recipient of the Presidential Fellowship. Additionally, Kyle has completed the SIE, Series 7, and Series 66 securities registrations.

Originally from the suburbs of Annapolis, Maryland, Kyle worked for more than five years as a dockhand at a local marina. He now resides in Bethesda, Maryland, and is an avid reader who enjoys movies, gaming, and writing in his spare time.
